WHAT THE RECORD SHOWS — EVERY CLAIM CITED OR MARKED

The deal memo cites 'the precedent we set in March.'

“Requesting 25% to close by month-end — in line with the precedent we set in March.”

m07-016 · SALES LEAD · DEAL MEMO · JUL 19

The March decision (register #9) reads: 22% for the anchor account, explicitly one-time, not precedent — approved on that condition.

“22% approved for the anchor account. One-time. Not precedent. Approved on that explicit condition.”

register #9 · DECISION RECORD · MAR 14

Three exception requests since March each cite the one before it.

“Matching what we did in March. (Approved at 23%).”

m04-025 · DEAL THREAD · APR 22

“Consistent with April. (Approved at 24%).”

m06-013 · DEAL THREAD · JUN 9

The floor is moving two points a quarter and nobody has decided to move it.

MARKED AS INFERENCE

Three approvals trace 22 → 23 → 24%. No decision to move the floor exists anywhere in the record.

CONTRADICTION ON THE RECORD

“In line with the precedent we set in March.” DEAL MEMO · JUL 19	“One-time. Not precedent. Approved on that explicit condition.” REGISTER #9 · MAR 14
The memo cites a precedent the record says was never set.

WHAT HAPPENED LAST TIME

— The March discount didn't shorten that cycle.

— The deal still closed two weeks late — on security review, not price (outcome note, register #9).

“Closed two weeks late. The delay was the security review; price was agreed in week one.”

REGISTER #9 · OUTCOME NOTE · APR 2

WHAT'S MISSING

— Finance hasn't seen the request.

— The memo compares to list price, not to margin after the implementation work sales added in the same thread.

RECOMMENDATION

This is a floor decision disguised as a one-off. Re-price the tier openly, or restate the March condition and hold it. Approving 'one more' decides the floor silently.

No corrections recorded on this entry. When one is made, it is an attributed, timestamped event in an append-only record — never a silent edit.

How to read this brief: every claim above traces to a quoted source message (message ID · role · channel · date), to a register entry, or is explicitly marked as inference or detected absence. Nothing is smoothed over. This document is illustrative — one shared fictional company, people shown as roles — and contains no customer data. In a pilot, this brief is built from your own exported conversations.
